Surviving the Second Phase in a Transition--Cocooning

I decided to focus on this phase because it is often the most uncomfortable that we go through. In the First Phase (Catalyst), you're experiencing an event- downsizing, death of a loved one, divorce--something happens. And the Third Phase (Commencement) is a new Beginning and something happens.

Then, there's that middle phase, some authors call it- the in-between one--It feels like nothing's happening-- and, this is true-on the surface! You and yours can't see it. It's happening within.

This phase is the grieving period for what was, and we need to go through this. No matter how much we wish we could skip it entirely or, at least, rush through it! We can't. It's like that awful-tasting medicine we had to take to feel better! I know, doesn't sound fun, does it?

It isn't. But, we need to do it in order to feel better! The butterfly that will emerge transformed will die if we prick it's cocoon before it's ready to fly! Now, none of my Transition coaching clients have died during this phase, or any for that matter!

But, the idea of preventing the growth--often, painful-- that's why they call it, "growing pains"! This time of reflection and inner work results in the outer next phase--looking at life anew. You've allotted enough time (and it varies), just as long as you need to--and you are ready to move forward and step into the next phase of your life!

Marcia's Marvelous Mentions

I always share resources, sites & stats with you--Wanna make a special mention of Breathebooks. It is one of very few New Age bookstores in Baltimore. That's where I grabbed my copy of The Secret, The 4 Agreements & several other super books! The shop is a Hamden gem, and has an air of serenity even on a crowded afternoon! Many of you already know, but those who are new to Breathebooks, check it out!

A friend & fellow, Koffeetalk member, Avery Boyce is the CEO of FetchFood.com--restaurant menus online, in one place where you can place your orders to go! Cool idea! Click here to order today!

Certified--not "certifiable." I proudly will wear my super Guerrilla Marketing Coach cape! I'm a Certified Guerrilla Marketing Coach--passed a rigorous set of requirements. Also, really increased my bottom line! Wanna increase your cash flow, decrease the stress of knowing you should be marketing--but how? Celebrate with me! I'm offering a 60-minute coaching strategy session on making your marketing count to the first five smart folks who take me up on FR*EE Marketing Expertise!!
